

Young Professional of the Year Award

Winner: Mina Jahanshahi

Mina is the Team Leader of the Location Intelligence team at GHD, leading 18 spatial professionals working from offices in Melbourne, Traralgon and Geelong. Mina fosters a collaborative approach with her team and encourages a culture of technical excellence and learning, while providing a fun and dynamic work environment.

Mina actively participates in GIS communities, including membership of the Destination Spatial committee and involvement in the RMIT Syllabus Review Committee where she uses her position in industry to inform the University on the requirements of graduates when entering the workforce. Mina is also passionate about encouraging more women to enter this field.

Mina is an accomplished professional who has achieved great success as a leader, people manager, spatial analyst, project manager and consultant. She is a fantastic role model for young people entering a career in STEM and has mentored several students who are now successful professionals in the industry.
